“Retired Homes Outreach”

For sure many of our retired and elderly are growing victims of 21st century human depravity. As if locked away out of sight, the vast number of Seniors are quickly becoming more and more a challenge. At risk is a better way to describe the disposition of guilt that corners our virtue.

Many Churches have begun to set aside the means of helping our Seniors survive the terrible insensitivity towards elderly citizens. We, as believer priest, can't continue to challenge God in terms of what He has revealed to us time and time again. Our moral fiber is at stake in eternity. When we stand before Jesus, will we just start to repent for the negligence we've faced.

“Consoling The Sick Use To Be Common Place”

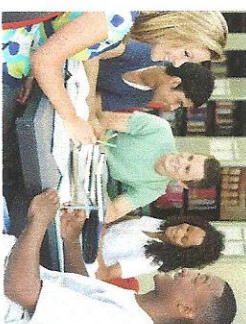

Today no matter how much money we pour into healthcare facilities we must still face the fact that a cold war is developing in our expressions of Love. And we are ignoring, to a large degree, the tremendous results just around the corner. When asked about visitation in the Church it becomes a matter of whose gift it is to minister to our sick and disappointed. Visitation is not a gift but love. If not you then who? Think of it, God gives us a reasonable good bill of health to vacation with time. It's not practical to overlook the impossibilities of our lives.

“Jesus Calls Us To Make Proof Our Ministries”

If we, as believer priest aren't soul-winning we aren't even showing the love that Jesus empowers us with. No, we don't have to win souls to be saved but if we are blood bought born again our spiritual hunger will manifest itself.

God won't stop loving us because we won't share Him with others but love demands a sacrifice. What about letting the Spirit lead us from now on? Start telling ourselves we will.

“We Need More Homes For Home Cells”

If Jesus is speaking to someone today, let Him direct you because we believe the day is late and the night is far spent (Rom 13:12). Also, we are the generation (Matthew 24) who will witness Jesus' second coming. The Fig Parable tells us about the Olivet Prophecy which discloses the attributes of the Second Coming of Jesus (Parousia). We need to be about our Father's business throughout communities. This is what the Lord saved us for. Hear Him today.
